The southbound Azalean, Train 1, was being pulled by L&N's first road-diesel units at Mobile on January 9, 1944. E6s 450A and 450B were delivered in May 1942 as a paired set (initially classed as "P-1" units), along with seven other pairs. The units were separated in 1946 and renumbered, with the two units becoming 750 and 770 respectively. The latter survives in the collection of the Kentucky Railway Museum. —Phillip Kotheimer collection

The Humming Bird/Georgian, is ready for its afternoon departure from Chicago's Dearborn Street Station on a July 1966 day. Another tenant of this Windy City terminal was Santa Fe. It would appear the afternoon Texas Chief was being made up at the time. The 1102 was rebuilt by EMD from a wrecked C&EI E7 and came back from EMD in 1958 as an E9M. The unit was named Eliza Doolittle for a time. —J. David Ingles photo

NC&StL's streamlined City of Memphis made its first run in 1947 with great fanfare and optimism. Despite a splendid train of completely rebuilt cars from the company's shops in Nashville, patronage did not hold up. On an August day in 1953, a conventional baggage/RPO, one coach, and the streamlined observation car are sufficient to handle the business. GP7 752 was one of five in blue and gray colors for use on light passenger trains. —John Endler, Jr. photo, Steve Forrest collection

The photographer was on the US 25 overhead bridge at Jacksboro, Tenn. as a northbound Knoxville & Atlanta Division freight came roaring through behind a quartet of Alco motive power. At the time, the stretch between Etowah and Corbin required lead units with ATC (Automatic Train Control). This kept ATC-equipped units captive to the K&A until the system was discontinued in June 1964. —David Salter photo

Armistice Day (1918)

Thanksgiving Day

Alco S2 (L&N class S80) 2374 is hostling E7 783 to South Louisville for attention on a very cold and snowy January 30, 1966. The E-unit was purchased secondhand from the Frisco in 1965. The addition of the grill along the top of the car body gave it an E8 look, but internally it was still an E7. On the Frisco, it was 2002, and named for the racehorse "Comanche." —Tom Smart photo

Pearl Harbor
Remembrance
Day (1941)

Winter begins

On Sunday, June 15, 1952, the Louisville Chapter of the NRHS sponsored an all-day excursion to Springfield, Ky. on the Bardstown Branch. The branch still had a daily except Sunday mixed, but it had been dieselized earlier. The NRHS group asked if H27A 1234 could be pulled from storage, fired up, and then pull the special on the day the mixed wouldn't run. With 235 patrons aboard, Extra 1234 has stopped briefly at South Louisville Shops for photos.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Historical Society was organized in 1982 for the purpose of collecting, preserving, and sharing information and material relating to the L&N, its predecessors and its successors. The Society is a nonprofit educational organization, incorporated in the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and functions strictly with volunteer members serving as officers.

The Society publishes a quarterly magazine, THE L&N MAGAZINE. Each issue contains articles of historical interest, reviews, and current news of the former L&N system.

Rosters of equipment, technical data, and historical and modeling information are just a few of the topics covered in the pages of the magazine. It is intended to be a nearly academic publication, and the basis for eventual further research.

The Society also produces specialty publications, such as profile diagrams, passenger car data and diagram books, authentic limited-edition models of L&N equipment, and many other items, including this calendar.

The Society's archives are located in a building on the Grand Junction campus of the Tennessee Valley Railroad Museum in Chattanooga, Tennessee. The mailing address shown is for that location. Our co-tenant in the building is the Southern Railway Historical Association. Obviously TVRM is a major railroad enthusiast attraction and features train rides (often behind steam) to East Chattanooga and return, and sometimes longer trips on many holiday weekends. Refer to TVRM's website for more information (www.tvrail.com).

The Society hosts an annual convention each fall, always in a former L&N location, and members are encouraged to attend.

If you are not a member, we cordially invite you to join with us as we recall the splendor of The Old Reliable. The membership term runs from January 1 through December 31 of each year. Upon receipt of your registration and payment, you will receive a membership kit acquainting you with the L&N and the Society. Three-year memberships are also available. See the website for more detailed information.
